

Green Drake (mayfly)

Large species with a dark olive color, three tails, and thick boxlike thoraxes

Flavus (mayfly)

Similar to Green Drake but smaller in size, often hatch longer into the summer months than Green Drake

Baetis (mayfly)

Genus of mayflies, slender, dark olive-brown, darkened wing pads, three tails, in some species middle tail is short or absent

Yellow Sally

Yellow or yellow-green Stonefly, much smaller than other stoneflies, often hatches alongside mayflies, often very abundant

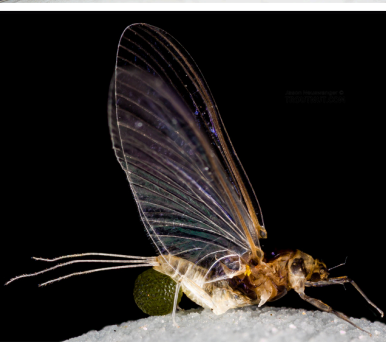

Pink Alberts (mayfly)

Clinger mayflies with flattened dull pink/tan body, dark wing pads, two tails and large lower gills

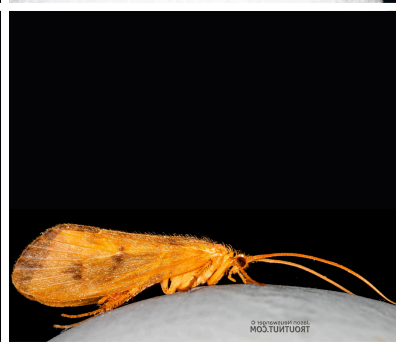

Crane Flies

Slender, mosquito-like body; extremely long, thin legs, size from tiny to almost 3 cm (1.2 inches) long, narrow, membranous wings typically grey to brown in color, some species are invasive

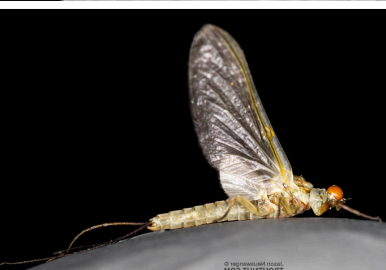

Trico (mayfly)

Genus of Mayflies, small pale gray/olive with light gray wings, three tails, no hind wings

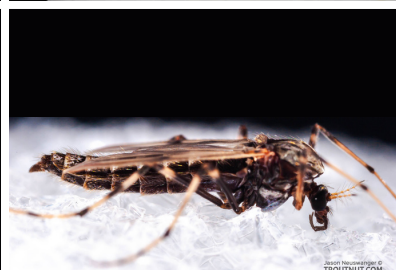

Caddisflies

Large group of moth-like aquatic insects with hairy wings, long antennae, and a tent-like wing posture when at rest. Can vary greatly in size and coloration

PMDs (mayfly)

Small to medium sized species with pale yellow to olive body and light gray wings, three tails

Midges

Resemble mosquitoes but lack scales on their wings and have shorter, non-piercing mouthparts, usually dark brown or black, very small

Red Quills (mayfly)

Medium sized, males smaller and darker red, females pale grayish and larger, three tails, middle tail longer than both adjacent tails

All images provided by:

TROUT  NUT.com